Van zeer betrouwbare zijde ontving ik twee in het
Poolsch gestelde circulaires, die door het secretariaat van "Het Slavisch Instituut" werden rondgezonden.

De juiste vertaling in het Engelsch - in vouwe dezes U toegezonden - werd mij door dezelfde bron ter hand gesteld.

Bij navraag omtrent daarin genoemde personen, kreeg ik de volgende inlichting:

Mr. Gorzynski is een bekend Poolsch communist
Ir. Rodinko is waarschijnlijk Rus of Oekrainer
Haniszzenko is waarschijnlijk Oekrainer
Dr. Joseph Kopta is waarschijnlijk Joegoslaaf
Globa Dorosenko is waarschijnlijk Oekrainer
Vaclava Lacina is waarschijnlijk Tsjech
Elspetha Mackay is waarschijnlijk Hongaarsche
Radova Simacek is waarschijnlijk Slowaak
Bogdan Cuka is waarschijnlijk Tsjech of Slowaak
Sir Bernard Pares is een Engelsch Universiteits-professor die bekend staat om zijn uiterst linksche politieke ideëen.

THE SLAVONIC INSTITUTE. (R)

(Het Slavisch instituut)

The slavonic world, shattered by war, is now aiming at it's unification. The Western countries must try to understand what gigantic changes have occurred there since the war. It is not enough, in order to penetrate these present changes, to rely on historical researches. Reports on the present true situation in Slav countries sound in the West as if they were false. Strong tension - artificially amplified - therefore arises between both sides. And this when our own conscience realizes that something is wrong and that things that happen now, have entirely a different ground from that of the old theories.

Some amongst us have heard of Kopernik, Sobieski, Chopin, Tolstoi, Czajkowski, Puszkina, Mazarijk and our understanding of them today may be deeper than theirs, of their own ideals, possibly barely perceived in their innermost. How much do we know presently of this cultural and economic unity towards which the Slavs of today tend with unity and good reason? Would it not be right to say that we and not they, are hiding behind the "Goebbels curtain" which we so easily and readily mention? - : we deny all and everyone who comes to us, bearing a fresh new breath from the East. Can we not understand, we Dutch, faithful to our traditions, that we are not expected to adopt slav habits, their economic structure or their ideals, but that we should inquire about them and know them? If we are unable to, we shall be incapable of contributing to the immense rebuilding of european culture and civilisation. And this should be avoided.

If we want Europe to be rebuilt, we must make up our minds to it and help efficiently to the great unification.

Amongst others, many professors of slavonic languages, intellectuals, men of science, men of art of the younger generation, have understood this necessity and have therefore founded the Slavonic institute. It's aims are the following: to work on cultural economic and scientific ground, to organize homes, to organize the study of slavonic languages, to give interviews, to spread the knowledge of modern and classical slavonic literature, to be an intermediary for the exchange of actors, music and musicians, films, broadcasting programs, to supply the press and individual with recent information on the life of the Slavs, to translate and publish new slavonic literature, and with the financial help of persons interested in these matters, to organize exhibitions, slav libraries, to translate Dutch books into slavonic languages, etc. Our Institute takes an active part in the publication of "Colloquium serie" i.e. of books with monographies concerning the situation in Eastern Europe and in the publication of the monthly review "Oost Europa".

Anyone interested in these questions and living in Holland or abroad are requested to seek information at the Secretariate:

Monthly

aiming at the creation of a link and of an economic and cultural contact with Eastern Europe. Edited by "Vrij Nederland" - Secretariate: Aime van Santen, 5 Kerkstraat, Den Haag.

Whoever returns to Holland after a journey to Eastern Europe, is pressed with questions - and rightly so, because for the average Dutchman, Eastern Europe is a closed chapter. But it is of great importance that the contents of this chapter be disclosed. To achieve this purpose, we have to mobilize our entire strength. Our periodical proposes to annihilate and dispel the whole outfit of German propaganda. This is a basic necessity.

The first issue of our monthly will appear in October 1946 with the collaboration of:

Pawla, Olga and Ir. I. van Rodenko, M. Gorzynski, Jewgenia Haniszenko, Aime van Santen, Evzen Lenz, Milan Bretys, M. Wayenberg, dr. Eberhard Rebling, dr. J. Suys, dr. R. Jacobsen, dr. E. Polesa Cardozo, Willy Berg, Magda van Embde, dr. F.V. van der Bijl, M.A. Ph.dr. es L.Dr. Willy Huisman, dr. J. van Leening, Jacob Evenhuis, dr. J.W. Munts, dr. Joseph Kopta, Globa Dorosenko, Vaclava Lacina, Elspetha Mackay, Radovan Simacek, Bogdan Guka, Sir Bernard Pares and others.

This review will be composed of articles on sociology, economics, trade, literature, films, theater; of translations from slavonic poetry, summaries from slav papers with illustrations. We also intend to give reports on various subjects, lectures, books and give economic and general information, advertisements and statistics.

We therefore ask of societies and institutes that they draw the attention and interest of their members and employees to our publication and try to secure their collaboration to our publishing committee. (The address of our Secretariate is: Oost Europa, Kerk~~str~~straat 5, Den Haag, Holland. For the Polish section: Mr. Gorzynski.) We wish to firmly encourage our possible correspondents and informers to submit us their plans concerning their collaboration.

In order to develop the secretariate of the monthly review "Eastern Europe" into an Information Agency, we appeal to all official agencies and organizations of Slav countries - especially Poland - to send us all possible documentation.

We ask publishers and printers of books, music, periodicals, and articles, to send us recent publications. Taking into account the space and technical possibilities we may dispose of we shall make summaries and reviews. We expect the help of all those who, as we, believe that only a strong action towards collaboration will close in the breach which separates the East from the West.

The Redaction.
